

On Purpose
Week 1 - Attack Your Fear!
Sunday, April 8, 2018
Guest Speaker - Ron Wolfley

Biography:

Ron Wolfley played ten seasons as a fullback and as a “wedge-buster” on special teams for the Arizona/St. Louis Cardinals, Cleveland Browns and St. Louis Rams. He was named to four Pro Bowls. Today, he serves as the color analyst for the Arizona Cardinals games and is the co-host of The Doug and Wolf Show on 98.7 FM Arizona Sports. Ron is a passionate follower of Jesus and he’s kicking off our series, On Purpose, by challenging us to not allow fear to keep us from our purpose.

Notes:

Next Steps:

1. Identify what you heard God speaking to you through what Ron shared.
2. Determine your next step based upon what you heard.
3. Take that step and attack your fear!

“Because of what I heard God saying today, I will

_____.”

Discussion Questions:

- What was your biggest lesson or takeaway from Ron’s message or his interview with Pastor Scott today?
- What fears do you have today which are keeping you from living out God’s purposes for your life?
- Where have you looked for meaning and purpose in your life? Have those places led to you feeling fulfilled or more empty?
- How has fear defeated you in the past?
- How can knowing what the Bible says empower you to attack your fears?
- What Bible verses could you memorize (or have you already memorized) to empower you to attack your fears?
- What are your responses to the Next Steps? How can this group pray for your next steps?

If you are interested in an electronic version of the sermon notes, please go to prescottcornerstone.com and click on our Archive menu. Here you will find the most recent sermon notes.