

4. _____, _____, and _____ lead us to the issues behind our money issues. (Matt. 6:27, 31-33; Prov. 4:23)

Next Steps:

1. _____ the breadcrumbs of worry, anxiety and control.
2. _____ your recent financial disagreements through the lens of "this is about that."
3. _____ God to reveal the issues behind your money issues.

Questions

- What was the biggest lesson you took away from this message?
- In today's message, we heard about the idea of working on the issues behind your money issues. When you use that lens to examine your recent financial disagreements, what deeper issues do you see emerging?
- Pastor Scott encouraged us to follow the breadcrumbs of worry, anxiety, and control in our life. What is causing you to feel those emotions in your life today?
- In Proverbs 30:8-9, we learn that both scarcity and abundance can distract us from God. Where have you seen this principle at work in your life?
- Pastor Scott said, "My trust in God ends where my fear to surrender control begins." If this is true, where does your trust in God end?
- Pastor Scott shared two definitions of freedom in this message. How would you define freedom? (When money is god, freedom is being able to do whatever we want whenever we want. When Christ is God, freedom is letting go of our desire to control and trusting God to guide and provide.)

If you are interested in an electronic version of the sermon notes, please go to prescottcornerstone.com and click on our Archive menu. Here you will find the most recent sermon notes.